

THE PART NOBODY POSTS

YOU BUILT SOMETHING GOOD.

Then you read your own cold email. And you knew.

• • your last outbound

WHAT YOU ACTUALLY SENT

- Hi {first_name}, hope this finds you well TEMPLATE
- I wanted to reach out because TEMPLATE
- We help companies like yours TEMPLATE
- Would you be open to a quick chat? TEMPLATE

THE PRODUCT TOOK MONTHS. THIS TOOK AN AFTERNOON.

THE MOMENT

The build was never the weak part.

ULTRON • 51ULTRON.COM

THE MATH

MONTHS ON THE PRODUCT.
AN AFTERNOON ON THE PITCH.

And the pitch is the only part anyone ever sees first.

WHAT YOU BUILT

MONTHS

tested, rewritten, argued over, shipped

WHAT THEY SEE

1 LINE

a subject line you wrote between two calls

THE ORDER

They meet the sentence before they meet the software.

ULTRON • 51ULTRON.COM

WHAT IS ACTUALLY BROKEN

THREE THINGS, AND NONE OF THEM ARE THE CODE.

Every one of them is a sentence somebody has to read.

01

The first line

says what you do, not why now

02

The page they open

explains the product, not the problem

03

The follow up

the one you never send

ALL THREE ARE WRITING, NOT ENGINEERING

THE PATTERN

You outsourced none of it, and did none of it.

ULTRON • 51ULTRON.COM

WHAT CHANGES IT

ONE LINE. NOT A REWRITE.

You describe who it is for and what breaks without it.
Once.

who this is for, and what breaks for them without it

reading your product, your posts, your past deals

a first line, a page, and the follow up, in your voice

WRITTEN FROM WHAT ALREADY EXISTS

PLAIN ENGLISH

One paragraph. Not a positioning workshop.

ULTRON • 51ULTRON.COM

WHAT COMES BACK

THE SAME PRODUCT. A DIFFERENT FIRST LINE.

Nothing about what you built has changed.

• • your next outbound

WHAT GOES OUT NOW

- One trigger, from something they posted WRITTEN
- A page about their problem, not your features LIVE
- The follow up, already queued HELD
- Held for your yes YOURS

NOTHING SENDS WITHOUT YOU

THE DIFFERENCE

It reads like you wrote it on your best day.

ULTRON • 51ULTRON.COM

WHAT ACTUALLY CHANGED

YOU STOPPED BEING THE WEAKEST PART OF YOUR OWN PITCH.

The thing you were proud of finally arrives that way.

1

paragraph is the whole brief. The product was always fine.

THE BUILD WAS NEVER THE WEAK PART

THE TRUTH

Good products lose to better first lines every day.

ULTRON • 51ULTRON.COM

THE ASK

TAKE THE ONE PARAGRAPH PITCH.

What to write, and what it turns into.

COMMENT PITCH

and I will send you the exact paragraph.

ALL ACCESS

51ULTRON.COM

ULTRON • 51ULTRON.COM