Habits moved
my GTM
into one

AI chat box

here's how...

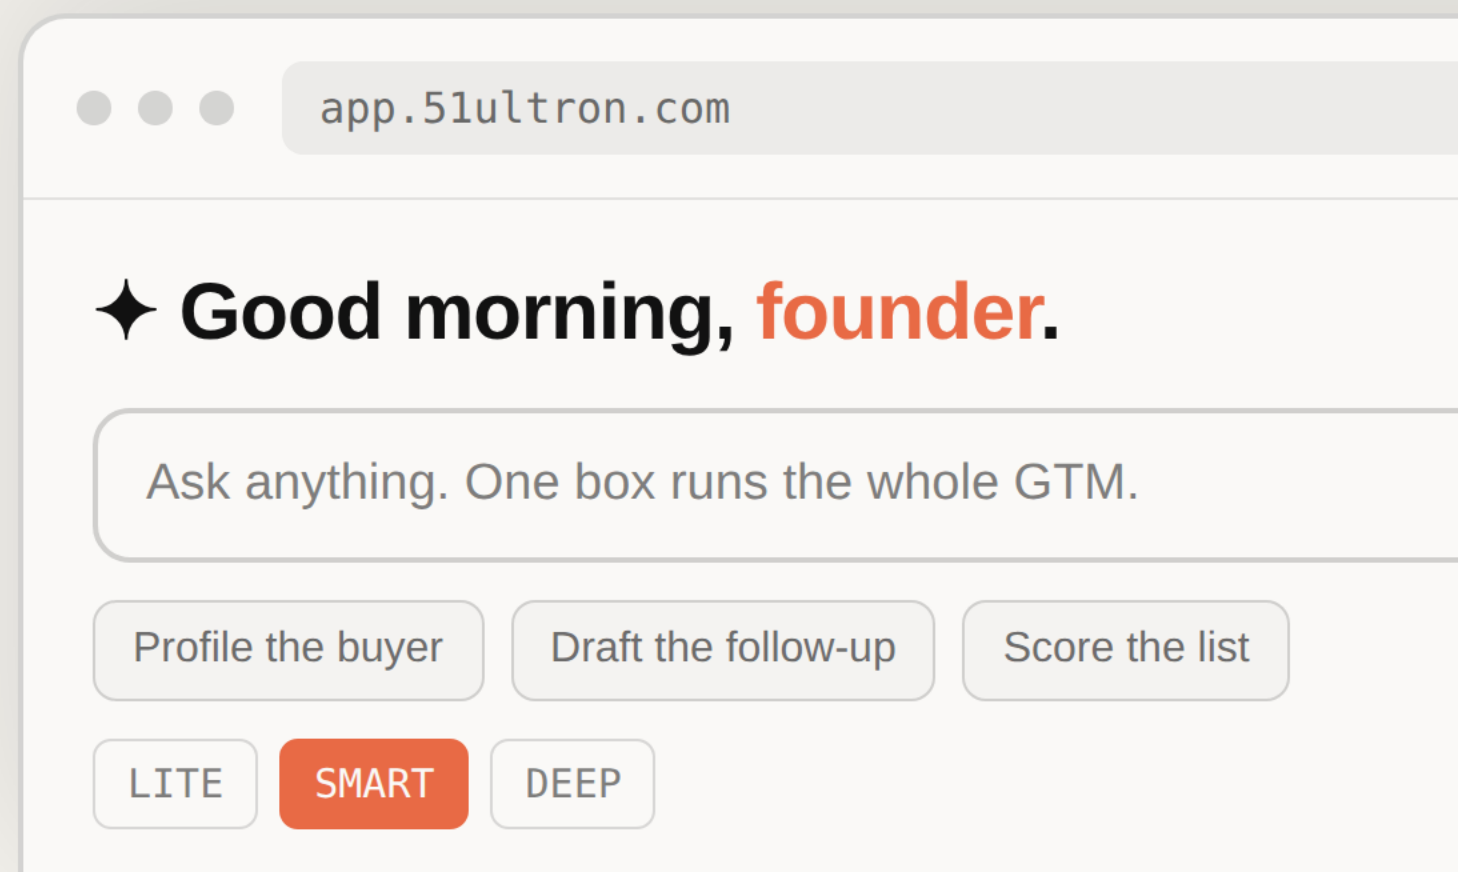

TIP 01

One chat box. Not twelve tabs.

A tab for research. A tab for the CRM. A doc of prompts you keep rewriting. A notes file you paste from every morning.

Every GTM job now opens in the same box, the same way, with the same memory underneath it.

It either already knows, or it asks once and keeps it.

TIP 02

Slash the agent that owns the job.

/cortex researches the account. /specter writes the outbound. /striker runs the deal. /pulse writes the post.

Or skip the slash, type plain English, and the router picks the agent and the model tier for you.

/specter	outbound	agent
/cortex	research	agent
/striker	deals	agent
/pulse	content	agent

/specter follow-up for the demo call |

TIP 03

Pick the tier the turn deserves.

Lite for quick lookups. Smart for the real work. Deep when the judgement is hard.

The picker sits on every turn, so you spend on deep thinking only when the turn earns it.

TIP 04

Stop re-explaining your business.

Every session loads your context in layers before you type a word: instructions, business profile, integrations, the top relevant memories, the date.

Your ICP, your voice and your pipeline are already in the room.

01 static instructions	loaded
02 business profile	loaded
03 integrations	loaded
04 top 5 relevant memories	injected
05 today's date + open work	loaded

TIP 05

Upload it once. It becomes context.

PDFs, images, audio, spreadsheets and URLs turn into working context, not a wall of text the model skims and forgets.

Stop pasting the same brief into every new chat.

TIP 06

Slow work runs in the background.

Anything that will not finish in seconds becomes a background job: scrape 200 sites, enrich a list, transcribe a call.

You keep chatting while it runs. Nothing sends until you approve it.

Enrich 200 accounts

background job · running · you can close this tab

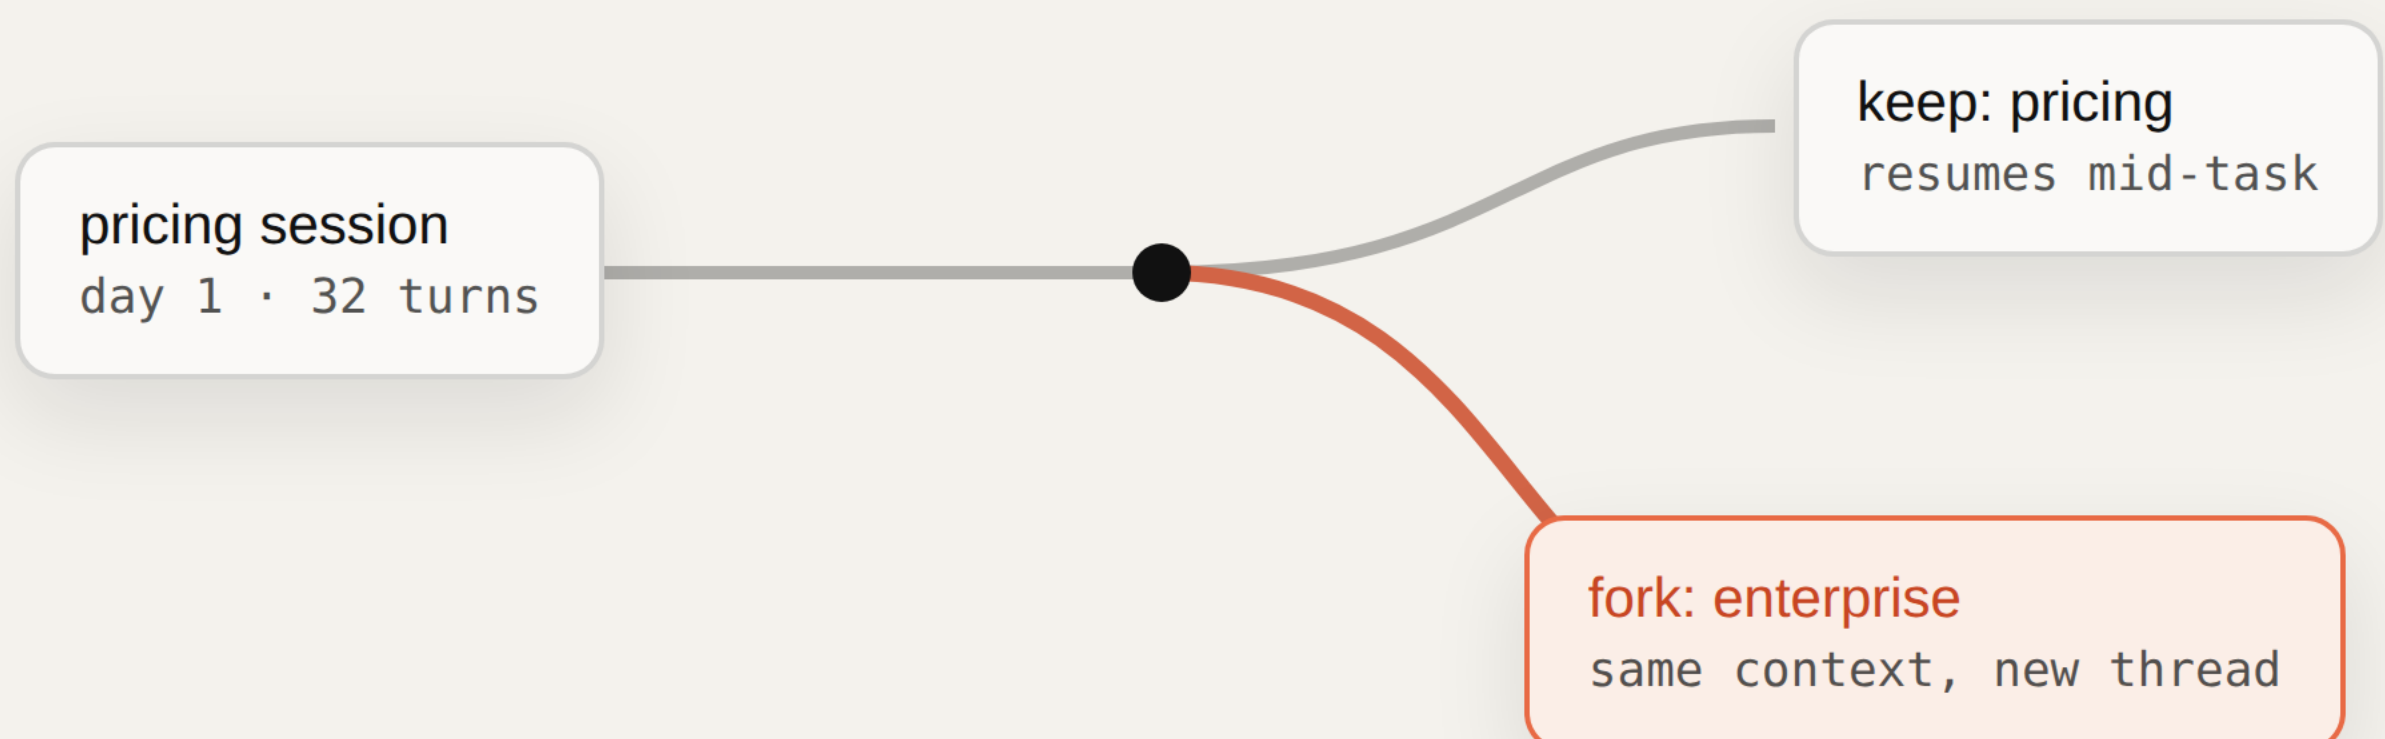

- ✓ scrape company sites
- ▶ score against your ICP
- ⋮ waiting: your approval before send

TIP 07

Fork the thread. Don't restart it.

Sessions persist and stay searchable. Close one for two days, reopen it, it is still mid-task.

Need a second direction? Branch the session into two without losing the thread.

TIP 08

Send the session, not a screenshot.

A screenshot ships 1 piece of proof out of 44. The read-only link carries every turn, source and artifact.

Your cofounder scrolls the whole machine, then forks it into their own and keeps working.

READ-ONLY

a screenshot sends 1 of these 44. the link sends all of them.
